

Module 6 Explanation

I started with an image of what I thought I wanted my portfolio to look like. I wanted the header to include my name and I wanted my navigation bar to be horizontal within the header. I also wanted the header to stand out a little, so my name wouldn't be forgotten by the viewer. I also decided to have all the content on each page be centered on the page under the header.

For the color scheme, I decided to go with my favorite color-family: teal. I think teal is a color that is easy on the eyes and not extremely obnoxious. It also contrasts well with gray, which is what I decided on for the text. The text color on my resume page is currently a purple scheme, but that will eventually be changed to match the site color scheme.

I originally wanted the font to be a handwritten-looking font, but then changed my mind after I designed the comps. I eventually decided on a regular sans-serif font that would be readable on the internet.
